Second Erasmus+ International Teaching and Training Week

“Innovations and Entrepreneurship in Education and Business”

It is our great pleasure to invite you to the “Second Erasmus+ International Teaching and Training Week” which will take place between 18th and 21st of March 2019 in Sofia, Bulgaria hosted by the International Business School - Botevgrad.

A main goal of the International week is to provide opportunities for universities’ staff members to share and discuss common problems and experience in the field of innovations and entrepreneurship in education and business.

A four-day program of workshops and meetings has been planned. In parallel teaching sessions for teaching staff members in the field of economics, tourism and management have been provided.

This International Teaching and Training Week is our unique approach for enhancing international cooperation and partnership. It is also a great opportunity to make new contacts and to learn about our university, city, country, and culture while conducting teaching or training activities.

For teachers the week offers the possibility to teach in the following fields:

- International business
- Business administration
- Accounting
- Economics
- Innovations
- Management
- Marketing
- Tourism

Staff members have the opportunity to benchmark and share their expertise in the following services:

- Administration services
- Distance learning
- Continuing education
- Student services and mobility
- International and business relations
- Research and development activities

All the sessions will be conducted in English.

Participation in the Sixteenth International Scientific Conference of the International Business School “Innovations and Entrepreneurship in Education and Business”, which will take place on the 22-23 March 2019 in Sofia, is an additional opportunity after the international week officially ends. The Sixteenth International Science Conference of the International Business School intends to become the platform of introducing innovative theories, products and services; discussions on the problems of policies of intelligent specialization and development of science and education; popularization of good practices and innovative methods of transfer of knowledge. For more information about the conference, please follow the link: <http://ibsedu.bg/en/page/20-international-conference>.

The participation in the International week requires a registration fee of 50 euros per person, which includes coffee breaks and lunch snacks. A visit of Plovdiv city is optional and will cost respectively 22 euros per person, which includes transportation and beverages.

The International Business School will support the participants with accommodation arrangements upon request.

The participants should cover their travel and accommodation costs through Erasmus+ mobility programme (TSM – Teaching Staff Mobility and Staff Mobility).

For enrolment please fill in the application form here:

https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSd5VwlBjmYNhnnuuVvQKgIBOZf68CL3L_uClqvc2SUbN_1Uw/viewform?vc=0&c=0&w=1.

The deadline for applying is 31 January 2019. Confirmation of selected applicants and detailed individual programmes will be sent by 08 February 2019. Because the number of participants is limited we can approve participation of only two staff members per institution. Thank you in advance for your understanding!

Don't miss the chance to meet new people, to enjoy the beautiful capital city of Sofia and to participate in the International Week.

Please feel free to forward this message to your colleagues that might be interested in.

We remind you that European Union participants have the possibility to apply for ERASMUS + Staff Training mobility grants from their home institutions.

For further details you may contact us at: dgeorgieva@ibsedu.bg or international-week@ibsedu.bg

We are looking forward to seeing you in Sofia, Bulgaria!

Yours faithfully,

Daniela Georgieva

Institutional Erasmus+ coordinator

Participants are kindly requested to contact their home institution for STT funding, where possible.

On behalf of the American University in Bulgaria, we cordially invite you to our 7th AUBG Erasmus Teaching and Training Week from 8th to 12th of April, 2019. AUBG places great emphasis on cross-cultural perspectives and internationalization, a commitment seen in our highly diverse student body, international faculty and staff, and international and intercultural academic and co-curricular programs. We believe that successful cooperation is based on personal encounters and meaningful exchange of ideas and experiences. We hope that the comprehensive program of the AUBG Erasmus International Week will give the participants the opportunity to gain new knowledge regarding Erasmus exchanges, new skills and strategies for best practices, and will help us strengthen our existing partnerships, while presenting opportunities for future cooperation.

Why to choose American University in Bulgaria (AUBG) for your Erasmus teaching/training?

1. High Quality Education
 - a. AUBG is the first American style liberal arts university in Eastern Europe.
 - b. Dual diploma recognized both in the US (NEASC) and Bulgaria (by NAEA).
 - c. World-class faculty from all over the world.
 - d. Modern curriculum.
 - e. High-tech campus and well-equipped facilities.
 - g. The largest English-language university library in Southeastern Europe.
2. Diverse Experience
 - a. International environment – about 40 nationalities on campus.
 - b. More than 40 student clubs to suit various interests.
 - c. Exchange opportunities for a semester or a year with more than 400 partner universities worldwide.
 - d. Global alumni network.
3. (BONUS) Perfect location
 - The city of Blagoevgrad is only 100 km away from our capital Sofia, an hour drive to Greece and to other popular European destinations. It is a student-friendly city with a mild climate, beautiful scenery, and many opportunities for outdoor recreational activities.

Who can attend?

The AUBG Erasmus Teaching and Training week is open to all staff (administrative and technical) and faculty of our current partner universities or potential new partners.

Costs

We do not charge any participation fee. Other costs such as accommodation, meals and travel are covered by the participants themselves.

Accommodation:

Accommodation not provided

Central European University is delighted to invite you to our 2019 Erasmus+ International Staff Training Week, which will cover the most pressing questions in International Higher Education that an International Office has to face.

The week will begin with an introduction to Higher Education in Hungary, and internationalisation practices. Participants will also get to know CEU and learn about the latest institutional developments.

The second day of the event will focus on external pressures – attacks on Academic Freedom and how to face them, and the Costs and Benefits of Internationalisation of Universities. Experienced CEU officers will share their experience on how to keep calm and grounded in times of turmoil, and how to turn challenges into opportunities in an international office.

The third day will focus on participants' professional development as international educators in form of an Intercultural Communication Training.

Thursday will be dedicated to Erasmus+ operational questions, partnership building, and the international student cycle – how to ensure a great student experience.

The program will include presentations, and group discussions lead by CEU's experts, as well as invited guest speakers. Since we believe that everyone can benefit from meeting colleagues in similar roles to theirs, the last day of the training week will offer opportunities to all participants to meet their counterparts at CEU and exchange best practices.

You can see the tentative program as an attachment (changes may occur)

Accommodation is not provided by CEU, but a list of recommended hotels with reasonable prices in the surroundings of the campus will be shared with the participants after acceptance.

The participation fee will cover all training materials, lunch and coffee breaks, city tour, public transport pass, welcome reception, and farewell dinner.

Application: Please send the completed application form (attached) to staffweek@ceu.edu by February 28th.

Please feel free to contact us with any questions

We hope to see you in Budapest in May!

Staff Training Week at Kristianstad University, May 21-24, 2019

Hosting Higher Education Institution:	Kristianstad University
Institution website:	https://www.hkr.se/en/stw2019
Country:	Sweden
Language:	English
Dates:	Tuesday, 21 May, 2019 to Friday, 24 May, 2019
Registration fee:	500 SEK (appr. 50 Euro)
Maximum number of participants:	55
Deadline for applying:	Thursday, 28 February, 2019
Accommodation:	Accommodation not provided

The aim of our staff training week is to exchange ideas and to have fruitful discussions with colleagues from all over Europe.

Our guests will visit different departments and learn more about our administration and campus life.

Time to visit Kristianstad and to get an idea of Kristianstad and the surrounding area will be offered.

The training week is open to staff members working in the following 6 groups:

(Please register at <https://www.hkr.se/en/stw2019>):

A, New tools for Counselling and Career Guidance (10 seats)

One great challenge for us lies in offering counselling and career guidance to the younger generations and to those student studying online. What tools and services can we offer to these students that can benefit and aid them in their education and professional growth?

B, Student Administration at the Faculties (5 seats)

What does a study administrator do? Similarities and differences between our and your universitiy.

C, Work Integrated Learning - from Classroom to Workroom (5 seats)

How do we work with administration for "work integrated learning" (practical placement)?

From placement and assessment to examination.

D, Communication (5 seats)

How we work with digital ads to find the students and get them to find us.

Kristianstad University is the eight most applied university in Sweden, but considering the two types of different universities we have in Sweden ours is the most applied in our category. Our students finds us via different types of digital ads and we have almost no print ads going. We work with google ads, facebook ads and create content that applies to our students. We do much of the work in-house and have different expertise in our team. Are you interested in digitalization? Take the chance to visit us during staff training week!

E, Financial/Accounting Administrator (10 seats)

Procedures, systems etc.

Economic model at Kristianstad University/at the visiting Universities, visiting an education/research facility, group seminar questions related to "Purchases and E-procurement" and "Human Relations".

F, Innovation, Implementation and Impact (20 seats)

How to drive innovation and implement sustainable change in your programs.

Change is a constant factor in our society; at our workplace, implementing new procedures, programs or interventions. But how do we know if the change actually improves things or what factors that prevent the change to be applied? In order to interpret change and make the right decisions, it is necessary to have an understanding of how Innovation, Implementation and Impact function in order to generate sustainability.

This two-day course will give you insight into the importance of understanding Innovation, Implementation and Impact in organisational or project-based circumstances, such as in European projects for example. The days will be combined with theoretical knowledge and practical exercises based on real-world examples, together with group discussions.

This staff training course is suitable for anyone that works in a university as an administrator, teacher, project manager or researcher.

International Staff Training Week 2019 - Navigating the Challenges of Modern Universities

Hosting Higher Education Institution:	Technische Universität Dresden
Institution website:	https://www.tu-dresden.de/sprint/staff_week
Country:	Germany
Language:	English
Dates:	Monday, 3 June, 2019 to Friday, 7 June, 2019
Registration fee:	none
Fee reductions/waivers:	none

Maximum number of participants:	50
Deadline for applying:	Thursday, 28 February, 2019
Accommodation:	Accommodation not provided

We are delighted to invite you to the fourth International Staff Training Week at TU Dresden which will take place from 3rd to 7th June 2019 in the City of Dresden.

Today's universities are active far beyond studies, teaching and research. A wide variety of stakeholders are involved in navigating the resulting challenges and working on interdisciplinary issues such as internationalisation, diversity management and networks, without losing sight of the overall objectives of the institution.

Our staff week provides a platform for the exchange of knowledge, ideas and best practices in science management. We want to spark discussions and networking between colleagues from all over the world and TU Dresden. We offer four Specialist Groups on the following topics:

Developing and Managing Successful International Partnerships: One factor of universities' advancement on an international scale is the successful management of its international partnerships. What defines a successful partnership? Which criteria determine the selection of our partners? What role do location factors play? And do we need key figures to manage and monitor partnerships?

Target group: staff of international offices and science managers in the field of internationalisation

Promoting International Research: To foster internationally successful research we need to examine the whole process. How can services support international research collaborations, increase the reach and accessibility of knowledge and facilitate technology transfer into society and business?

Target group: science managers and science communication staff

Creating a University Culture of Responsibility: Universities are aware of their responsibility in many areas. How do we promote diversity and improve equal opportunities? How do we maintain and strengthen the health of our university members? How can we actively contribute to future generations and the environment?

Target group: staff from diversity management, communication, environment/sustainability, health, welcome services

Working in Networks: Academia cannot succeed without the exchange of ideas and people, and today's universities act in an ever more complex system of networks (e.g. with alumni, research institutes, as well as the city and region). How can we successfully develop networks and contribute to those that we are already part of?

Target group: Science managers from communication, alumni offices and networks

Upon registration, we ask you to choose one of the Specialist Groups. Further information about the programme of our International Staff Training Week 2019 can be found on our website.

Language

The language of communication is English.

Expenses and Funding Opportunities

Participation in TU Dresden's International Staff Training Week is free of charge. However, participants are asked to cover their own expenses for travel, accommodation and meals.

Please contact the International Office at your home institution to find out whether funding through e.g. the ERASMUS+ Programme for staff mobility is available.
